

Simplify Your Day and Empower More Students to Succeed

By streamlining your advising workload and quickly connecting with students and other support services, you can spend time on what matters most

Minimize Administrative Tasks

Faculty advisors are often asked to do more in a day than humanly possible. With advising reports and communication tools, you don't have to spend hours on cumbersome clerical work or deal with inefficient pen and paper systems. You'll be amazed at how much time you save with just a few clicks.

Target Specific Groups of Students

Need to contact all History majors with a GPA below 2.5? Identify high performers to target for internship opportunities? We make this easy by allowing you to filter for specific student criteria using the advanced student search feature. Once you've identified a cohort, you can automatically email, text message, or report on these students.

Keep Everyone in the Loop

In one click, see every interaction a student has had with support staff campus-wide. Our platform keeps a record of all communications, appointments, meeting notes, and class attendance. You'll never have to dig through piles of paperwork to keep up with a student's progress.

Streamline and Organize Your Calendar

Planning your workday shouldn't be a hassle. Keep your schedule organized by using our technology to manage appointments and availabilities. We sync with your Outlook, Google, or iCal calendar, keeping you up to date on upcoming appointments.

Manage and Advise At-Risk Students

Investing your time and energy in the students who need it most is critical. Faculty early alert campaigns let advisors know which students are at-risk in specific courses, and predicted risk level appears on each student's overview. This way, you'll be supporting the students who need it most and have the information you need at your fingertips when they arrive in your office.

Track Your Impact

Wondering if what you're doing with students is making a difference? Outreach analytics show you which emails were the most impactful, while campaign management tools will track progress for each of your targeted campaigns.
