Medgar Evers College

The City University of New York

Medgar Evers College of The City University of New York (MEC) is an undergraduate, coeducational, non-residential institution of higher education located in Central Brooklyn, New York. It was established in 1969 and named for the martyred civil rights leader Medgar Wiley Evers. Medgar Wiley Evers (1925-1963) is the courageous African-American civil rights leader who was assassinated in Mississippi on June 12, 1963. The College's educational philosophy is to provide an affordable first-rate education for the residents of Central Brooklyn, as well as New York City, who might otherwise have no access to college. The College's mission is to meet the educational and social needs of Central Brooklyn and to develop and maintain high quality, professional, career-oriented undergraduate degree programs in the context of a liberal arts education. Serving both traditional and non-traditional students, Medgar Evers College is one of the younger members of The City University of New York (CUNY) family that includes eleven senior colleges, seven community colleges, The Macaulay Honors College and six graduate and professional schools.

Medgar Evers College is a college of and in the community. It was conceived by the Brooklyn community and is the result of the committed work of, and strong advocacy by, the residents of Brooklyn, community organizations, and local elected officials. The original community supporters developed the educational mandate for the College:

- (1) to be a four-year institution offering both associate and baccalaureate degrees;
- (2) to develop improved methods of teaching and innovations in education;
- (3) to emphasize professional studies without neglecting the liberal arts;
- and,
- (4) to be responsive to the needs and to be of service to the community.

On July 30, 1969, the State of New York Regents and the Governor of New York approved the establishment of a four-year institution in Central Brooklyn. On September 28, 1970, the name, "Medgar Evers College", recommended by the Community Council (then known as the Community Advisory Committee), was approved by the CUNY Board. The College admitted its first class of approximately 1,000 students in 1971 and graduated its first class of 94 students in 1974. By Fall 2009, college enrollment had expanded to beyond 7,000 students in its regular academic programs and over 2,000 students in adult and continuing education.

In keeping with its mission, Medgar Evers College from the beginning has offered both associate and baccalaureate degrees. In September 1976, as a result of the 1975-76 fiscal crisis in New York City, the CUNY Board recommended, and the State approved, the change in the funding status of MEC to that of a community college. With the combined efforts of a coalition of faculty, students, and community stakeholders that successfully lobbied State legislators to maintain the College's baccalaureate degree programs, the College continued to operate as a senior college, offering both associate and baccalaureate degrees from 1976 to 1994, yet was funded as a community college. On June 8, 1994 the College was restored to its original senior college status and to senior college funding by the same kinds of advocacy that called MEC into existence, coupled with the support of the Chancellor and the CUNY Board of Trustees.

During the Academic Year 2019-2020, Medgar Evers College offered twenty (20) baccalaureate degrees, nine (9) associate degrees, and one credit-bearing certificate in its degree-granting programs. The School of Professional and Community Development, through the Academy for Youth, offered fifteen (15) active programs serving a total of 14,783 participants; the Adult and Continuing Education program served 387 adults; the Academy for Career Pathways programs enrolled 390 participants; and the Research and Advocacy Centers through community events engaged 15,560 individuals during the academic year.

Amidst the unprecedented times facing the world due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Medgar Evers College transitioned from in-person instruction to a primarily distance learning format. In response to the pandemic, Medgar Evers College's college-specific goals are set to ensure continuity in educational access and completion for prospective and existing students.
